“Does Anybody Here Speak Woman?” This is going to be a shocker to you, but men and women are DIFFERENT. They don’t think alike, feel alike, process truth alike, see the world alike, much less desire the same things. How in the world do we live with, much less communicate with someone so opposite from ourselves?

“Fighting Fair” This morning we will look at Problem Solving 101. How easy it is to lose sight of the problem and attack the person. Conflict is inevitable and it is important for true growth to take place in your relationship. Conflict can be a win-win confrontation.

“Field of Schemes” Dealing with the Ex’s, the double families, and new Friends can either be one of the most enriching parts or your marriage or one of its biggest drains. This morning we will learn the art of setting boundaries and making sure everyone understands how they are needed.

“Four Dog Night” This morning we will be dealing with the delicate art of sexual intimacy and making sure that you only sleep with each other and keep the ghosts of the past locked out of the room. God’s plan for incredible sex.

Blending families is NOT IMPOSSIBLE, but it can be challenging. This morning we will focus upon building godly homes that make a difference.

“Show Me Da Money!” Single, married, or remarried, finances can be an unfair target that receives a great deal of our frustration. If the marriage is going to work well, there has to be a financial plan that is well thought out and managed by both of you. It’s not as hard as you think.

“Yes, Dreams Do Come True.” This morning we are going to celebrate! It’s our last morning together. Final thoughts and observations about your new journey ahead.
